THE CAMPAIGN OF SLANDER

REPUBLICAN ATTACKS UPON MR. BLAINE.

[From the Rockland Free Press.]

The self-constituted leaders of the democrats in this State for the campaign,—Messrs. Emery, Pillsbury, Jordan & Co., —seem to have abandoned the idea of legitimate controversy upon political topics, and are devoting their efforts principally to attacks upon the Hon. James G. Blaine. It is true that Mr. Blaine's career for a number of years has identified him with the politics of the State and country at large, in so much that in the public estimation a condemnation of public and political events unfavorably involved is regarded as a representative man. This we are ready to admit, but also that such a record is a proper subject for criticism. But justice demands that when ever criticisms are offered, should be truthful and fair; not distorted, malicious, or based on assumptions incapable of substantiation. Mr. Blaine, we have perfect confidence, will not object to the closest scrutiny of his public life, nor shrink from the consequences. All his records has been preserved from no higher purpose of private gain or security from the hounds whom he has known to be following his steps, "is at least sagacious enough to have given them no opportunity to discover him harassing his offices. He is well aware how quickly they would pounce upon him in such a case. The envy and malignity of the pack has been conspicuous whenever it was thought occasion offered to injure him. As yet, however, all attempts to involve him in dishonorable transactions or conviction of the least unfaithfulness, have utterly failed. One charge after another has been preferred by his traducers, investigation of which has not only left him unharmed, but each one occupying a more advantageous place in public esteem. It will be borne in mind how triumphantly he was vindicated before the committee who investigated the Credit Mobilier transactions. That committee, at his request, was constituted with a majority of democrats upon it, and he was completely relieved by them from all suspicion of having been connected with it.

But proof of Mr Blaine's rectitude is not sufficient to silence his traducers. They jump from one accusation to another as lawless the falsity of each is proved. They have endeavored to connect him with the sale of the Maine Agricultural College scrip, but whether wisely sold or not Mr. Blaine is entirely blameless. They have attempted to convict him in helping the paper credit swindle in our State, and again their charges are proved false by congressional records, showing his effort to stop the abuse. But as a last resort before final proof of the falsity of the charges against Mr. Blaine does not silence Pillsbury, Emery, & Co. They keep up the reiteration of heinous crimes proven to be false again and again. By doing so, they confirm the conviction not only of their personal malignity toward Mr. Blaine, but also of their utter inability to sustain political controversy. If their old record left any ground for doubt, their late writings have effected it. Every accusation they have made against Mr. Blaine in the campaign has been unsustained by anything but their own assertions. It is certainly a high honor to him, that followed as he is by such malignant calumnies, they are unable to find, in his long and honorable career, one single discreditable transaction to serve as a basis for their malignant purposes. Both he and his friends have reasons to be gratified at the impotency of this war upon Mr. Blaine, who so prominently represents the Republican party.

THE POINTS OF ATTACK.

[From the Bangor Whig and Courier.]

The democrats in this State have not displayed much shrewdness in the campaign thus far. Their candidates for Governor, Senators, two Lieutenants, F. F. Pillsbury, of the Augusta Standard and Marcellus Emery of the Bangor Commercial, seems to have put loose from the other leaders of the party, and is running the campaign "respectfully" on his own hook. Gen. Roberts started out in his famous "Secession speech" by discarding the wisdom of the convention that nominated him in ignoring the resistance question, and declared war against prohibition. He, therefore, is responsible to the campaign for making the temperance question an issue. He could not, after he attacked the Republican party as a stronger point. If he has allowed pygmy Deems to select the point of attack they would have chosen the one he has. It has given an earnestness to the campaign on the part of the temperance people of the state, which can carry no party which could not have been called forth without it. It has aroused the moral sentiment of the State, and enlisted it warmly in the movement of the republican party. No one can estimate the thought for a moment that Gen Roberts in attacking the prohibitory law, acted from a desire to promote the cause of temperance. He has never shown an interest in the cause. Whatever of reform in behalf of temperance has been wrought in Maine, has been without aid or sympathy from him. He struggled to keep temperance question into politics to pander to the rum-sympathizers throughout the State, and they are many, of course,—but few compared to those who have no sympathy with traffic. He united his own party for him, however against the enactment of the convention that nominated him,—and he hoped to find in the republican party a considerable number whose interests and sympathies in behalf of the rum traffic would induce them to vote for him. In many sections of the former, though we doubt it. We know many democrats who are in favor of the law for preserving the purity of society and who will vote against him for the same reason.

Gen. Roberts will find, when the campaign is over, that pandering to the low and degraded elements of society does not pay in politics.

The democratic leaders of the state have permitted the temperance question to be dragged into the campaign, and they must meet the consequences. Mr. Pillsbury has written two letters to Gen. Roberts, which he has published in the Augusta Standard and Bangor Commercial, in which he has attempted to connect him with the sale of the Maine Agricultural College scrip, but whether wisely sold or not Mr. Blaine is entirely blameless. They have attempted to convict him in helping the paper credit swindle in our State, and again their charges are proved false by congressional records, showing his effort to stop the abuse. THE FOURTH DISTRICT

It was certainly very inconsiderate in the Republicans of the Fourth Congressional District to spoil such nicely-laid Democratic plans, by arranging their difficulties in so amicable way and preparing to win the usual Republican victory. The Democratic organs have been greatly interested in the caucuses and some of them have devoted almost their entire attention to the work of arranging a nice little Republican quarrel which might enable the Bourbons to step in and carry off the prize, and their disgust at the melancholy failure of their hopes has been loud and vigorous utterance. It would have been such a "big thing" you know, to have announced a Democratic victory in one of Maine's Congressional Districts and on the eve of a Presidential election, but the smiles of attempt have been turned away and the Democrats are again grimly facing the certainty of defeat. They don't take it kindly and are disposed to scold the Republicans for their undutiful behavior in declining to get up a split or a bolt or something that would offer hope to the hungry Democratic warriors. But some of them are trying hard to cover their discomfiture by suppressing or misrepresenting the facts and the information has fully gone abroad that the Republicans of the Fourth District are united and sure of an overwhelming success. Referring to the nomination of Gen Plaisted the Boston Post has the goodness to tell its readers

It is quite natural to expect that if he is able to run it will be without the help of Aroostook Republicans. The feeling there is so strong against the habit of suppressing Aroostook every time she presents herself with her claims. As the result of this split in the Republican organization of the Fourth District it is not improbable that Mr Madigan of Houlton, the same town as Mr Powers resides, who is likely to receive the Democratic nomination on Plaisted's exit will be chosen. The prospect is a fair one, and everything looking to the realization will of course be properly done by the Democrats of the Fourth District.

Now this would hardly agree with the report of the proceedings of the Convention as telegraphed to all the Boston papers so the Post resorted to the subterfuge of its despatches by suppressing all that portion of the report which we have enclosed in brackets below.

Gen Plaisted soon after appeared and accepted the nomination in a brief and pointed speech. It was received with applause as was also Llewellyn Powers of Houlton who was loudly called for and who in a brief speech accepted the action of the convention in the name of the Aroostook Republicans [and pledged that county to give a good majority for the nominee.] The resolution of respect, no further claims was cordially accepted by the representatives of that county and the convention adjourned with the most harmonious and confident feeling of success in the coming election.]

The Boston Herald attempts to administer sin lar dismal comfort to the Democrats but evidently did not make note of an special despatch from this city, which, emanating from the Commercial office could not be suspected of Republican bias. The concluding paragraph of that despatch with considerably more than usual candor stated as follows

The convention barely escaped making a mistake which would doubtless have cost them the election. In the early part of the day the Aroostook county delegates, favoring Llewellyn Powers, would take no part in the proceedings whatever, and it seemed that the convention must break up in a very unpleasant mood. The City of Brewer however saved the day by coming forward with a compromise resolution to the effect that Penobscot county should fill out General Hersey's unexpired term, and that Aroostook county should have the nomination during the next four years thereafter. The resolution barely passed, as several prominent Bangor men bitterly opposed it. As the matter now stands, General Plaisted will probably be elected by a fair majority

General Plaisted's election conceded, the Republicans of the District will give their opponents a more definite idea of what they regard as a "fair" majority next month

And now the Democratic managers who have bestowed so much attention upon the Republican canvass find abundant occupation in looking after their own "slates" which have been so seriously disarranged. The Post is altogether too positive in its expectation that Mr Madigan will consent to be saddled for a losing race. The nomination is not now the thing which he was promised a week ago, and the empty honors of defeat have never been attractive to the Aroostook leader. The prospect now is that the "lively time" which the Democrats were hoping to witness on Wednesday last will be enjoyed in their own convention next Tuesday. At any rate, they fully recognize the certainty of defeat, and understand that the nomination means only the selection of the victim.

COLONEL SMITH'S LETTER AND GENERAL HOSKINS.

[From the Kennebec Journal.]

It is very singular that while the Democrats have declared Col. Smith's open letter to be a good thing for them and Gen. Roberts, they are very careful not to print it themselves or buy it from us ready printed to give it circulation; and still more singular that they misrepresent it most scandalously. A communication in the New York World from an Augusta correspondent represents the letter as holding up General Roberts as a "coward and a poor officer." Now the person who framed a falsehood could have read the letter for himself and thus known that Col. Smith did not say any such thing. He simply referred to the fact that General Roberts had been charged with cowardice by Hoskins, and that he (Smith) had written to Roberts for that letter. Certainly all honorable men personal bravery of General Roberts. In it Col. Smith says: "It is with great satisfaction * * that I remember and record your personal bravery and your general popularity with your command." If this be representing the General as a coward we do not understand the meaning of language. What the letter does say about General Roberts is not that he was a coward, but that he resigned his place at the darkest period of the war, when the government was in need of every man it had in the army, and came home to join hands with Marcellus Emery, Rhen F. Pillsbury, and others of that stamp, in their course of opposing and embarrassing the administration in its efforts to put down the rebellion. This is not charging General Roberts with cowardice, but to the apprehension of every loyal man and patriot, of every true soldier, it means something far worse; so bad, indeed, that the Democratic papers prefer to represent General Roberts as being charged with cowardice rather than to state plainly and fairly the real accusation contained in Col Smith's letter.

The actual charge in the open letter to General Roberts is one that no Democratic paper has attempted to deny. It is true in every line and word. They can make no reply to it. To say that General Roberts showed himself personally brave is only to repeat what Col. Smith acknowledges. But to reconcile with the character of a "patriot soldier" his leaving the army at the time he did and under the circumstances attending his resignation, to come home to associate and act with copperheads like Emery and Pillsbury is a difficult task indeed. It is not at all surprising that the Democrats would rather meet the charge of cowardice in their candidate than the one actually preferred. In this they are shrewd, but the dodge will do them no good.

The letter of "Ticonic" published yesterday has brought our another communication from our Augusta correspondent "State House," who maintains the correctness of the statements of his former letters and touches upon several other topics.

The Commercial, in its issue of yesterday (August 13) published a long and lugubrious compliment because General Plaisted in his speech of acceptance urged that a distinction should be "maintained between those who love their country and defend it and those who attack and would destroy it." One would suppose that so reasonable commendable and patriotic a doctrine would hardly be subject to criticism in the good State of Maine; but the Commercial finds it exceedingly obnoxious. Its peculiar sensitiveness may be explained perhaps by the fact that the editorial referred to was an anniversary leader, and the editor was probably thinking of a boo-fire which was made in West Market Square just fourteen years ago.

THE CASE OF FITZ JOHN PORTER. The War Department, to which the question was referred by the President and Cabinet, has decided that the case of Fitz John Porter cannot be re-opened. A review of the case failed to develop the slightest irregularity in the proceeding. The trial put General Porter in jeopardy of his life, and under the amendments to the Constitution he cannot again be put in that position, nor could the court martial be recommended, for as a general he cannot constitutionally be tried again for the same offence, and being now a civilian, he is not in a position to ask a court of inquiry. The only other claim to be considered is for a board of investigation. The War Department does not discern wherein such a board could be of any benefit to the petitioner. It will be unprecedented, without authority or power to vindicate the claim of Fitz John Porter, and if appointed could only set as an unauthorized body, entraining judicial proceedings sanctioned by the highest law of the land. The petitioner is debarred from another trial, not by the President or Secretary of War, but by the laws of Congress, which neither they nor Congress can set aside.

The platform of the Oregon Independent State Convention favors resumption of specie payments, repeal of the act doubling the President's salary, pledges the nominee to river and harbor improvements, legislative control of fares and freights, reimbursement of Oregon, of the Modoc war expenses by the general government.

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL.

Gen. Garfield is recovering, and it is positively stated that he will take part in the Ohio campaign.

The Omaha Herald (Dem.) takes its stand with the Baltimore Gazette in hoping that the Republicans may carry Ohio against the rag-money Democrats

The Louisville Courier-Journal remarks that Mr Beck's unpopularity in that State is so great that the Democratic losses in his district at the late election were more unanimous and considerable than anywhere else in the State.

The Indianapolis Sentinel (Dem.) printed the whole of Senator Morton's speech on the morning before its delivery, having obtained it from proof-slips stolen from the Indianapolis Journal office. That kind of enterprise is not very creditable

The Democratic City Executive Committee of Baltimore are levying assessments on all the State and city officers for party purposes, and the work is done so thoroughly that even the lamplighters, whose pay is $6 a week, are required to pay $4 as their assessment.

The Ohio State Journal declares that the Democratic movement for inflation in that State is intended in part as a flank performance to divert the public attention from the last two years of Democratic mal-administration; but whatever the motive for raising the issue, it aids the Republicans have nothing to fear from it.

The Troy Press (Dem.) says that inflation will be thoroughly squelched in the National Convention, and the Ohioans may prepare for back seats; but, on the other hand, the Evansville Courier (Dem.) announces that its party in the South and West will not cease its efforts until the greenback policy has triumphed, and adds that the Presidential candidate on the Democratic ticket will be nominated by the West and South.

Senator Bogy, of Missouri, has published a two-column letter on the finances, from which it appears that two years ago he was an inflationist, but one of the milder sort. Now he proposes to increase the circulation of the currency, and at the same time appreciate its value by applying it to more uses—as, for example, to the payment of customs duties. By this marvelous plan, the road to contraction lies through inflation.

The anti-Tammany Democrats of New York city have united with the German Democratic organization in an application to the Police Commissioners to be given representation in the number of inspectors at election. The supply of Cattle from the West was larger than that of one week ago, and the quality superior, as a rule, to the average, quite a lot coming in of an ordinary grade, including several lots of Texas Cattle. Prices remain unchanged from last week's quotations. There is not much doing in the Sheep or Store Cattle trade, the most of the Sheep coming in being bought by butchers. Quite a number of Sheep were purchased in Vermont and marked from Maine and New Hampshire early last week purchasing Beef Cattle.

We have up to date had a small lot for sale, but few parties offered in market for sale. In fact Cattle are almost coming in more freely from the West and East than the local trade calls for.

Store Cattle — Nothing doing in the shape of Cows at present, most of the Cattle being bought by butchers for slaughtering.

Milch Cows — Extra, one & one, sold at $55 @ $60 a head. Most of the Cows sold at $40 @ $50 a head. Not many Cows for sale at present.

Second Duty of the Meeting—"Walks about Jerusalem," "Among the 300 Clubs," and "Young Businessmen" in the 5.30 Class.

On Thursday the races at the fall meeting of the Bangor Trotting Park were postponed on account of the rain, and yesterday the second day's programme was trotted. The attendance was small, but the track was in good condition, having dried off rapidly. The two events were for horses in the 2.57 and 2.35 classes, in each of which a large field of entries was reduced to a small field of starters.

The Judges were Hon. Messrs. L. C. Titus, of Bangor; Valentine Hall, of Windham; and Ash Savage, of Lewiston.

FIRST RACE.

The first race of the day and the third of the meeting was for horses in the 2.60 class, with ten entries and five to start. The purse was $150—$80 to the first, $40 to the second, and $20 to the third. Major, Rosa Bryant, Spot, Loafer and Sunrise were withdrawn. In drawing for positions, Monarch got the pole, Brick second, Waldo Chief third, Mabel fourth and Azro outside The race was taken easily by the favorite, Waldo Chief, in three straight heats, Azro second, and Monarch third,—time, 2.41¾, 2.43¼, 2.40¾.

First heat: Scored six times. At the quarter the Chief was several lengths ahead, Brick second Azro third, Monarch fourth, Mabel fifth, 1.38; at the half in 1.18, Monarch and Azro had changed positions; the third quarter pole was passed in 1.58; coming home the Chief pulled up and was still three or four lengths in the lead, Brick second, Azro third, Monarch fourth, Mabel last,—time, 2.41¾.

Second heat: Scored ten times, or equal to two or three times around the track At the quarter in .39 Chief was ahead, followed by Brick, Monarch, Mabel and Azro, at the half in 1.19 the Chief was way ahead; on the third turn Brick was running to keep away from Monarch, the Chief making the third pole in 2.08; coming home the Chief was first, Brick half a length ahead of Monarch, but given fourth position for running, followed by Azro and Mabel,—time 2.43¾

Third heat: Four scores. The Chief led at the quarter in .37, followed by Monarch, Mabel, Brick and Azro; the Chief continued to lead at the half, in 1.19, the third quarter in 1.59, and first under the wire, Azro second and second money, Monarch third and third money, Mabel fourth and Brick fifth,—time, 2.40¼.

SECOND RACE.

The second race of the day and the fourth of the meeting, was trotted in alternate heats with the 2.50 class. It was for a purse of $170 for horses having no better record than 2 37 class,—$100, $50 and $20. There were eleven entries, with only three to start. Purity, Charcoal, Togus Boy, Dick, Silver Eye, Bay Dick, Little Fred and Honest Farmer, were withdrawn. Fred Logan drew the pole, Young Buchanan second, Knox, Jr., outside. In the first heat Young Buchanan, the favorite, was a couple lengths at the rear up to the half, in jogged Logan close on the third quarter, and passed to the front on the home stretch, taking the heat in 2.36¾. The second and fourth heats and the race were taken by Young Buchanan, Fred Logan second, and Knox, Jr, distanced,—time, 2.39, and 2.34¼.

First heat: Got the word the second time down, and Logan inside the quarter in .42, at the half Longan was still leading, and Buchanan and collared Knox,—time, 1.39; on the third quarter it was neck-and-neck between Logan and Buchanan, making the pole in 1.46; coming home Buchanan closely pressed Logan and came in half a length ahead, Knox, Jr., third—time, 2.36¾.

Second heat: Scored three times. Got the word with Fred Logan at a break; Buchanan led all the way around, making the quarter in .40, half in 1.20¾, third quarter in 2.03; Logan ran badly, but kept close after Buchanan; the latter came in first, and Knox passed Logan just before reaching the wire,—time, 2.39.

Third heat: The horses got off well at the second attempt; Buchanan was first at the quarter in .38¾, with Logan hot after him; at the half in 1.17, still pressed by Logan, with Knox badly at the rear; Buchanan made the third quarter in 1.57; coming home Buchanan was first in, but was given second place for running, and Knox, Jr., distanced,—time, 2.34¾.

Fourth heat: Owing to a blunder in getting out the distance flag in the previous heat, it was decided to give Knox, Jr., the benefit of the doubt, the Judges rescinded their decision and the horse was allowed to start again. Young Buchanan won the heat, and race, making the quarter in .39, the half .18, the three-quarters in 1.55, with Fred Logan second and Knox, Jr., distanced,—time, 2.41¾.

"I SHALL WAIT FOR YOU THERE."

BY EMERSON H. DAVIS.

The following were found upon the dying words of a beautiful young lady to a tenderly loved parent a short time before her death: "Father! I shall watch for you there!"

I am reading, dear father, the shadowy river;
The chill dew falls damp on my hair
I shall soon gain the shore of the Happy Forever,
And oh! I shall watch for you there!

On the beautiful shore I shall wait for you, father!
I shall wait, in the gloam of a sail
Watch and wait for your coming across the dark river!
I shall—

With the boatman so silent and pale
Whilst the earth is arrayed in the bright robes of summer,

I go to a Land that is more fair
Where the flowers never fade and fond hopes ne'er wither—

And oh, I shall watch for you there

When the cold waves of death are surging around you,

Waiting there on the shore I shall stand
And will see, through the mist and the gloom that surrounds you,
The gleam of a beckoning hand!

Even now on my sight gleams the heavenly portal,
Oh mourn not for me, father dear!
You will follow me full soon to that bright land in mortal!
The zone is not here—no not here!

Where—where Death's hand the dearest ties sever!
No there—in this dull world of care
But in another bright shore, where no regrets are ever,
And oh! I shall watch for you there!

Thomaston August, 1875

A VICTIM OF RUSSIAN RED TAPE

The Russian journals have lately been much taken up with the troubles which have befallen a young man in consequence of his failure to establish his nationality. Albert Lemoil, some years ago a young woman, a native of Lemoil, went to St. Petersburgh, where she made the acquaintance of a Russian gentleman. She became the mother of a boy, who was in due course apprenticed to a shoemaker by whom, however, he was ill treated, and in consequence ran away. His mother then procured for him from the Governor General of St Petersburgh a passport, and he obtained employment upon a merchant ship trading in the Baltic. In time this vessel was wrecked, and in the disaster young Nicholas—such was the boy's name—lost his passport. He then returned to his mother, who again placed him with the shoemaker, from whom he again ran away, and in consequence fell into the hands of the police. He was kept in prison seven weeks, when being adjudged to be of the same nationality as his mother he was sent over the frontier, and by bodyguard made his way to Memel, which he was told was his legal domicile. On arriving in this town he presented himself to the Mayor, who told him that he was no Prussian subject, and that he might go whither he chose. After a fruitless endeavor to obtain employment and a home, the young man at the end of a fortnight left the Russian frontier and was arrested at Rastatgen, where in answer to inquiries he gave his name, that of his father, and described himself as a native of Memel, in the afternoon to a large congregation at Dresden Mills, and in the evening at Wiscasset.

The Baptist chapel in Fairfield is well under way, being nearly finished outside and plastered inside. It is a goodly sized structure and adds very much of the appearance of the street

Rev James F Hews of Portland, formerly pastor of the Park street church, has received the pastorate of the first Unitarian church in Salem. He has rejected a call to the Fitchburg Unitarian society.

A recent convert was baptized at Harrington on the first Sabbath in June by Rev D B Small and united with the Baptist church in that place

The Advents are holding a camp meeting at Seal's harbor, which is quite largely attended. A number of converts have been made, and baptisms are frequent.

The venerable Universalist clergyman, Rev Z Thompson of Mechanic Falls, is able to preach occasionally now.

The Methodist society at the little Androscoggin district in Machias, recently held a quarterly meeting, at which 20 persons were received into the church on probation, and 15 were baptized. The meeting was a very interesting one.
